

CANOPY

TRANSFORMATIVE EDUCATION FOR THE URBAN LANDSCAPE

PUBLIC PARK + ROOFTOP
A birds-eye view from the west, looks east over the living roof, its urban farming plots, and recreational facilities

STACKING DIAGRAM

In an evolving society, Canopy aims to transform standard educational practices and develop the skills of youth and adults alike by engaging with existing programs, expanding their impact on education, and involving the community for shared educational experiences. Working in tandem with adjacent literary, historic, and arts centers, Canopy establishes an educational campus with centers for agriculture, visual/culinary arts, and sports sciences to provide holistic learning experiences. With a "living roof" flowing into the city, the architecture provides connection and community relations through shared gardens, markets, and recreational activities, while programmatic organization and visibility promote safety in this connected environment.

COURTYARD
Private classrooms and shared facilities and shielded under a canopy with openings that allow light to penetrate and create secure educational experience.

ROOFTOP
Walking paths surrounded with local flora promote active lifestyles, while numerous community-maintained farm plots containing various crops are shared by students, parents, and the public.

CAMPUS CONNECTION + FLOW INTO THE CITY